Vocations... Today's readings speak of prophets sent by God. Could God be calling you to be His voice in His Church at this time? If so, you could give it a try by responding to that inclination towards priesthood, religious life or the diaconate, call Fr. Matt McCarthy, Vocation Director, Archdiocese of Toronto at 416-968-0997 vocations@archtoronto.org / www.vocationstoronto.ca

Bundle Up for St. Vincent de Paul! July 3-11

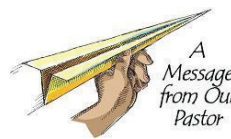

Acceptable items: all clothing, all footwear, bedding, drapery, towels, and toys (new or nearly new).
Items not accepted: books, construction material, dishes, furniture, and video/audio cassettes.

On the Lighter Side: Just burned 2,000 calories. That's the last time I leave brownies in the oven while I nap.

Communion Reflection... The older I get, the more my hands resemble those of my father. The shape, the veins, the wrinkles. Rather than regret the signs of aging, whenever I look at them, I remember how hard he worked to care for us; I remember his hands of love, and I'm moved to serve other as he served us. The ultimate hands of love, however, were the scarred hands of Jesus our Saviour, nailed to the cross in the most selfless act of love ever known as he took our sins upon himself and suffered the punishment we deserved. How might we, during this time, use our hands in selfless acts of love? And in so doing, let us remember Jesus' hands of love.

Who do your hands represent today? Dear Lord, in love you laid down your life for me. In your name, work in me and through me to serve the suffering, the friendless and those in need.

Did you begin this year with ambitious intention, and now that we're half way through 2021, your best-laid plans are falling apart? Last week you got sick and were too exhausted for your evening prayer; bad weather prevented you from something. As much as you tried to stay away from your chocolate stash, you didn't. That recent call to your friend sounded pretty gossipy on your end, didn't it? You feel like hitting the reset button on the year and starting over. You can! It's not too late to make a good year out of what you have, God rewards our efforts! Live this last half of the year with as much fervor as you first intended. Oh, Lord, please accept my meager offering; I will begin again!

Today's Quote: No one heals himself by wounding another. ~ St. Ambrose

Pope Francis @Pontifex... Underlying all our strengths and weaknesses, stronger than all our past hurts and failures, or our fears and concerns about the future, there is this great truth: we are beloved sons and daughters.

New to the Caledon?? Welcome new parishioners, to be a registered member of our parish is to have a sense of belonging to a Community of Faith. With your gift, you are helping to provide hot, nutritious meals for individuals who are struggling with homelessness and poverty. Thank you for keeping warmth and hospitality alive and well. Blindsided. Caught of guard. Shocked. Taken aback. Mary was blindsided by Gabriel when she was told she was going to have a baby. "How can this be?" she asked. It hits us from nowhere—a health issue, family problems, work conflict, emotional upheaval, financial disaster. We never saw it coming. "What am I going to do now?" we ask. What do you do when your partner suddenly proclaims: "It's over"? They back it up with "Something is missing" or "It's just not working." you're devastated, but you need to take a step back, try to make sense of what's happening, and believe you will get back on your feet. Distance yourself as you start to recover emotionally. Try a change of scenery. Healing can happen in a new environment, free of all the reminders of your partner. Don't bury your hurt—drain the pain and get it all out. Set a limit on how long you cry, scream, or get angry. Don't let it consume you. Then move on with your day. Eliminate all the negative chatter in your head and replace it with positive affirmations: "I'm worth more than this." "I have something to offer." Don't keep looking in the rearview mirror. Life is meant to be lived moving forward. When you're blindsided, follow this recipe: Take time to heal. Be tender with yourself. And talk to others.

Teacher Candidates... The Dufferin-Peel Catholic District School Board requires all teacher applicants to submit a pastoral portfolio/reference when applying for a teaching position. It is the responsibility of the candidate to attend Sunday liturgy, be involved in parish life and contact the parish priest well in advance.

Teacher candidates who are attending school out of the local area are also responsible to give the pastor advance notice. The pastor cannot complete the form if he does not know the applicant. It is the responsibility of the candidate to download and complete their portion of the form before submitting to the church. For more information, please contact the office.
